

Supporter Care & Community Engagement Officer

Home-based with occasional travel

Ideally 30 hours per week, but open to discussion for the best candidate. Applicants are welcome to set out their preferred working hour requirements.

£22,327 pro rata – e.g. £17,862 for 30 hours/week

Are you a fundraiser? Do you love building relationships with charity supporters? Do you want to help fight bladder cancer?

Fight Bladder Cancer is currently seeking to recruit a fundraiser with supporter care & community engagement skills to help build relationships with our supporters.

We are seeking an exceptional people-focused candidate. As an integral part of our small but growing team, you will be an enthusiastic, motivated and positive individual and an excellent relationship builder.

You may or may not have previous fundraising knowledge or experience, but you will be a fast learner and quickly become passionate about our goals. Experience of working with customer or donor-care would be advantageous to applicants. As the charity moves into a new era, you will be at the heart of positive change, putting donor needs and experience at the centre of our fundraising practice.

The charity is headquartered in Oxfordshire, England. The role will be home based, with occasional travel to London, Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire to work with your colleagues when it is safe to do so. The role will also require travel in the UK to visit fundraisers, meet with health businesses, and liaise with medical professionals.

Why work at Fight Bladder Cancer?

We work to ensure that everyone affected by bladder cancer – patients, carers, family and friends – has a place to come to for support, information and advice and ensure that someone is speaking up for them when key decisions are made about policy, care and research.

We continue to work hard delivering the legacy of Andrew Winterbottom, a determined bladder cancer patient who saw the lack of patient leadership for bladder cancer in the UK and worked with his wife to form this charity in 2009. The charity has continued to grow its footprint and is reaching more patients, family-members, healthcare professionals than ever before. Consequently, the charity has a growing need for voluntary income to achieve its ambitions.

The Supporter Care & Community Engagement Officer has a vital role in ensuring our mission becomes a reality. You will report to the Supporter Care & Community Engagement Manager, and work with the Corporate Partnerships Lead, the Support Services Manager, and the Office Manager to provide outstanding donor stewardship, motivate community fundraisers and build relationships with our supporters.

For more information, go to fightbladdercancer.co.uk/care

Fight Bladder Cancer

51 High Street, Chinnor, Oxon OX39 4DJ

Tel: 01844 351621

info@fightbladdercancer.co.uk